

update

News from your local association

Pictured above is Duane Noland making his presentation to President Reagan at the agricultural forum held at Millikin University in Decatur, Illinois.

PCA member talks to President Reagan

Duane Noland, PCA member in Macon County, was a member of a four-person agricultural panel which addressed President Reagan during the president's visit to Decatur, Illinois, in August of this year.

Duane was the farmer representative on the panel and his remarks concerning the problems facing farmers today were very well received.

Duane is part of a family corporation, Noland

Farms, Inc., which operates 1,300 acres in Macon and Christian counties. Duane was the winner of the Illinois Farm Bureau's State Discussion Contest and was selected as one of the four finalists at the Farm Bureau National Discussion Contest held in Orlando, Florida, earlier this year.

In addition to his other activities, Duane is chairman of the Macon County PCA advisory committee.